AMERICANS SWEAR GERMAN SUBMARINE SANK ENGLISHMAN

AMERICAN EMBASSY AT LONDON
GETS AFFIDAVITS TELLING OF THE ATTACK.

ALSO SHELLED BRITISH STEAMER

Fact That Vessel Was Shelled Causes
Belief That She Tried to Escape.

(Associated Press)

The American embassy at London has obtained affidavits from three survivors of the British steamship Englishman, stating that the vessel was torpedoed and shelled by a German submarine. The fact that the ship was shelled led Washington officials to believe that she might have tried to escape.

Sussex Torpedoed.

Affidavits of American survivors of the Sussex bear out the theory that she was torpedoed.

Dutch Steamer Sunk.

The Dutch steamer Duivendal has been sunk. The crew was saved.

Germans Take Positions.

Berlin says the Germans have captured French positions north of Malincourt along a 2,000 metre front.

Lost Heavily.

Paris reports today state that the Germans suffered heavily in Avancourt woods.

Italians Made Gains.

Italians in a forty hour battle regained several lost positions on the heights northwest of Gorizia, taking 300 Austrian prisoners.

Berlin says both Italians and Russians suffered heavy losses in their latest attacks.

Washington, Mar. 29.—That President Wilson is determined to utilize the destruction of the Sussex and Englishman to force a showdown with Germany on the submarine issue was revealed following the meeting of the cabinet.

In view of the gravity of the action he will take if it should be established that a German submarine attacked the vessels named, the President feels that it is imperative to ascertain all the facts available.

Not only is an investigation being made by American ambassadors and consular officers but Mr. Gerard in Berlin has been directed to inquire of the German foreign office if any report has been received from a submarine in relation to the torpedoing of the two vessels named.

Denial Is Expected.

The authorities doubt if the inquiry will be productive of anything other than a denial. In this case they will be forced to rely upon the circumstantial evidence which is being gathered by the American diplomats and consuls.

The cabinet at its meeting did more than ratify the decision already reached by the President and the secretary of state. There was manifested unanimous unwillingness to write any more notes on the submarine issue. To make further written representations to Germany, in case the facts should show that one of her submarines fired into the Sussex and Englishman would be, it was suggested, to make the administration ridiculous.

Colonel House Calls on President.

Washington, Mar. 29.—Colonel E. M. House, friend and adviser to President Wilson, arrived at the White House at the request of the President to confer over the German-American situation. President Wilson was out when Colonel House arrived. Soon after Colonel House arrived Counselor Polk of the state department went to see him and conferred for half an hour. It was admitted that Colonel House has come here to confer with the President over both the German and Mexican situations.

Americans Say Ship Was Torpedoed.

London, Mar. 29.—Two American citizens, Arthur Mackenzie of Savannah and Tom Fifer of Delaware, who were on board the British steamer Manchester Engineer, have made affidavits before the American consul that the steamer was torpedoed with out warning, according to a Central News dispatch from Queenstown.

TOWNSHIP IS ONE PRECINCT

Attorney General Lucey Says Residence In Precinct Immaterial

Attorney General Lucey has sent an opinion to the officers of the Aurora Liberty League in which he says that in township election it is not necessary that a voter live 20 days in a precinct. A voter may move from one precinct to another the day before election and be entitled to vote at the polling place in the precinct in which his new home is located, the attorney general says.

He holds the township is one precinct in a township election.

Mrs. Canfield of New York City who has been visiting her parents, Dr. and Mrs. F. D. Altman, leaves for the east tomorrow.

NEIGHBOUR ON COMMISSION

Will Help Settle the Line Dispute in Whiteside County.

Engineer L. B. Neighbour of this city yesterday received notice of his appointment as one of a commission of three engineers by the circuit court of Whiteside county to determine disputed lines in Whiteside county. C. C. Jacobs of Amboy is another of the appointees on the commission by the court.

MANY DIVORCE SUITS FILED FOR APRIL TERM

MRS. BEULAH FREY AND THE TROUTH STARTED ACTIONS
TUESDAY AFTERNOON

The approaching term of the circuit court promises to have its full quota of divorce suits. Nearly every day at least one new case is added to the list. Yesterday afternoon attorney John P. Devine on behalf of Beulah Frey of this city filed proceedings for divorce from her husband, John I. Frey, on the charge of habitual drunkenness. According to her bill they were united in marriage Oct. 12, 1909 in this city.

Theodore L. Trough through his attorney H. A. Brooks filed a bill asking that he be granted a decree of divorce from his wife Anna M. Trough, on the grounds of desertion. The couple were united in marriage Sept. 19, 1912.

Another divorce suit was started today by Attorney W. L. Leech of Amboy on behalf of Clara Dowdler, who asks that her marriage to Edward Dowdler be annulled. According to her petition they were married at Springfield Jan. 3, 1913 and that in August of that year he deserted her and has not contributed to her support or that of the child born from the union.

MUST ENLIST TO KEEP MUNROE GIRLS' FAVOR

TWENTY YOUNG LADIES REFUSE TO SEE FELLOWS WHO ARE NOT MILITIAMEN.

Monroe, Wis., Feb. 28.—A society of slacker haters has been formed by twenty young women who have declared they will assist Captain A. E. Mitchell to recruit his company of the national guard to the full war strength.

With the announcement today that the girls would refuse to welcome any callers at their homes who were not members of the local militia company, Captain Mitchell announced that he would keep office hours in the armory every night until all applicants needed have been examined.

The girls declare that in a city like Monroe they are fitted to judge if the non-members of the national guard have reasonable excuses for failing to enlist.

TOWN APPROPRIATION MADE BY AUDITORS

SEMI-ANNUAL MEETING HELD AT TOWN CLERK'S OFFICE
TUESDAY.

The semi-annual meeting of the town auditing board was held Tuesday afternoon at the office of Town Clerk F. D. Palmer. The members of the board present were Supervisor John M. Sterling, Town Clerk F. D. Palmer, and Justices A. H. Hanneken, George W. Hill and Grover Gehant. The record kept by the supervisor, who is treasurer of the highway commissioners, was audited. The annual appropriation for the ensuing year to cover the salaries of the assessor, highway commissioners and overseer of the poor, thistle commissioner, election expenses, town auditors and rent was made. The amount appropriated is a little in excess of the sum appropriated last year.

SUGAR HITTING HIGH PLACES

Commodity May Reach Nine Cents a Pound This Season.

Cane sugar has reached $7.50 per hundredweight in the local markets as against $7.25 a week ago and may, before the summer is over, go to $9, retailers say. Beet sugar sells for ten cents less.

Grocers assign the increase in price to the great summer demand as well as to the entry of several foreign countries into the New York market, rather than to the recent action of congress, repealing the clause which was to have made sugar free from duty beginning May 1.

WATER IS RECEDING; DANGER FROM FLOOD IS BELIEVED PASSED

OVER FOOT FALL NOTED HERE
SINCE TUESDAY MORN-ING READING.

ELECTRIC POWER CRIPPLED

S. D. & S. and I. N. U. Forced To Depend On Power From Several Steam Plants.

The crest of the flood in Rock river at this point was reached Tuesday night, as since then it has been slowly receding. There was a drop of nearly a foot from yesterday forenoon and it is believed the danger is passed for the present. There were heavy rains in southern Wisconsin and streams in that locality were out of their banks and considerable damage is reported.

Power Crippled.
As a result of the high water the hydro-electric plants of the I. N. U. are all out of commission and the company and the S. D. & E. are forced to depend on power from various steam plants. Interurban service between Dixon and Sterling has been badly disorganized, but two trips being made by the big cars on Tuesday afternoon.

Crisis At Freeport.

At Freeport the flood of the Peconic yesterday afternoon caused the shutting down of the electric light plant and last night the city was in darkness while no street cars were running. The water had reached a point within a few inches of the fire boxes under the boiler at the water works and it was feared for a time the plant would have to shut down. However, in the evening the flood was at a standstill and it was thought the crest had passed.

The crest of the flood reached Winslow on the Wisconsin line Tuesday afternoon and the village of McConnell, down stream from Winslow, suffered severely, many families being forced to abandon their homes. Business in the village was paralyzed but no loss of life is reported.

SINGERS PLEASED BIG CROWD IN MOOSE SHOW

FIRST PERFORMANCE OF "PI-RATES OF PENZANCE" WAS VERY WELL GIVEN.

The initial appearance of the "Pirates of Penzance," under the auspices of Dixon Lodge No. 727, Loyal Order of Moose, was greeted by a large house at the opera house last evening. This comic opera will be repeated to night.

The entire show, one of the best home talent affairs ever undertaken, went off with a rush and kept the audience hilarious throughout. Every part was well taken and the chorus work was excellent.

Robert W. Besse of Sterling took the part of the Pirate King well and was ably supported by W. G. Kent as Samuel, his lieutenant; Willard Beach as Frederic, a pirate apprentice; Dr. L. R. Evans, as Major General Stanley of the British army; Wm. Laxton as sergeant of police; Madame Kent as Ruth, a piratical maid-of-all-work, and Bernice Friedline, Anna Ragan and Mrs. Willard Beach as Edith, Kate and Isabel, General Stanley's daughters, and an ensemble of Gen. Stanley's other daughters, pirates and policemen.

In act two, a ballet divertissement by Miss Marcelle Kent was rendered with the grace and beauty for which this youthful dancer is so well known.

Between the acts comedy sketches by Billy Snell, Gus Heft & Co. and Paul Lennon served to enliven the entertainment.

Another large audience is assured at this evening's performance as the advance seat sale is already very large.

ASSESSORS TO MEET MARCH 31

Will Receive Books and Instructions
Friday Afternoon

Notices have been sent out to the assessors of the county notifying them of their annual meeting for instruction, which will be held in the county court room in the court house at 1:30 o'clock on Friday, March 31. At this time an agreement will be reached as to what amount to fix the valuation of certain farm products and also to receive their books and the necessary blanks to make this year's assessment.

Carranza Grants U.S. Army Right To Use His Railroads

Permission Will Greatly Shorten
Work Of Expedition
After Villa

(Associated Press)

Washington, Feb. 29.—Gen. Carranza has decided to permit the United States army to use the Mexican northwestern railway for the transportation of supplies in pursuit of Villa.

The use of the railroad will so facilitate the movement of stores that the work of the punitive expedition will be greatly shortened. The supplies will go as commercial freight to firms in Mexico with which the army has contracts.

One American Dead.
A dispatch from General Pershing, stating that one American soldier had died as the result of injuries sustained in a railroad wreck, indicates that the American forces were being transported by railroad south of Casas Grandes, with the probable consent of the local Carranza officials.

San Antonio, Tex., Mar. 29.—Confirmation that General Pershing already has been using a portion of the Northwestern railroad for transportation of troops was received by General Funston from what was said to be an unofficial source.

This information included a report of the overturning of two cars and the injuring of ten troopers of the Tenth cavalry and several horses. Three of the men were reported injured seriously.

Accident at Cumbre.

The accident occurred while the cars were being taken over a shoofly that had been built around the Cumbre tunnel, south of Casas Grandes. One of the rails gave way and the cars rolled down an embankment.

It was not believed at headquarters that General Pershing's use of the railroad prior to receipt of permission from the Carranza government would endanger the negotiations now being conducted by the state department, because it was assumed he had gained permission of those in charge of operations of that section of the line.

Supplies Chief Problem.
No reports from General Pershing were received, but his silence caused no uneasiness at headquarters, where the chief concern continued to be the problem of getting supplies into Mexico without a railroad.

Advices from Washington that the state department had prepared a memorandum urging Carranza to decide the question of using the railroad without waiting for the ratification of the protocol revived the hope that perhaps by Thursday the stores held at El Paso may be forwarded to some field depot more accessible to the troops now operating almost 300 miles from the boundary line.

Troops' Location Unknown.
Exactly where Colonel Dodd's cavalry is now, or into how many detachments it has been divided, was unknown at General Funston's headquarters.

The exact whereabouts of General Pershing also remained unreported but this lack of information created no uneasiness, for General Pershing still has orders to work out his own problem.

Full realization of the danger into which some of the advanced detachments must be moving was acknowledged. Villa's known ability as a director of ambushes has aroused frank expressions of fear among army officers that he may catch some of the American troops in a mountain trap.

Villa Again Routed.

Mexico City, Mar. 29.—Constitutionalist troops surprised Francisco Villa and his forces near Nampiquipa, Chihuahua, and routed the outlaw and his band in a battle. It was officially announced by Secretary of War Obregon. The pursuing column was commanded by Colonel Bertrand. Large quantities of arms and munitions and many horses were captured. Villa escaped early in the fight.

"BE WITH US" DIXON MERCHANTS SAY TO PEOPLE OF VICINITY

BUSINESS MEN OF CITY WILL BE HOSTS TO ALL WHO WILL COME NEXT WEEK.

GET THE SPIRIT - DRESS UP

Yourself, Your Family, Your Home, and Surroundings Should Receive Attention.

Interest shown in Dress Up Week, which will be observed in Dixon, next week, indicates that as a result of the campaign in which the merchants of Dixon are co-operating, Dixon houses, yards, streets and alleys will be given as much attention as personal attire. And that is the great plan of Dress Up Week—dress up yourself and family, your home and surroundings. Dress Up Week typifies the spirit of spring when winter's gray silence of snowy wastes and ice-bound streams is changed to greening fields and bubbling brooks, and it is in nature that the suggestion for Dress Up Week is found.

The merchants of Dixon are making especial arrangements to entertain their guests. New stocks are being attractively displayed, and there is no obligation for visitors to purchase—the business men extend an invitation to all to merely visit, observe and catch the spirit.

There will be band music on Wednesday and Saturday afternoon and all through the week merchants will devote themselves to the duties of hosts—and their invitation goes to every man, woman and child within fifty miles.

BE WITH US.

WIFE PULLED GUN TO AID HER HUSBY

BUSINESS STREETS IN QUIET
STERLING RESEMBLED VET-ERAN BATTLE FRONT.

The business section of Sterling was the scene of a shooting affray on Tuesday evening when Peter Dobbs and Mr. and Mrs. Seix became involved in an argument over an alleged visit to Dixon by Dobbs and Mrs. Seix Monday evening. Seix and his wife met Dobbs on the street and when the woman's husband "called" him, Dobbs drew a revolver and struck Seix over the head with it.

Mrs. Seix came to hubby's aid in wifely fashion—she pulled a 45 calibre Colt and started shooting. Dobbs changed ends of his gun and began to work his trigger finger, also. The bombardment of Verdun had nothing on what followed—one bullet sped down the street two blocks and struck Ford's barber shop—but there were no casualties. Dobbs made his getaway, but Seix and his wife were taken into custody.

THIRTY DEAD; FORTY HURT IN WRECK OF THREE FAST TRAINS

NEW YORK CENTRAL PASSENGER
TRAINS PILED UP TODAY IN OHIO.

TWO CRASHED IN BIG FOG

Twentieth Century Limited Flowed
Into Wreckage Few Minutes
Afterward.

(Associated Press)

Cleveland, O., Feb. 29.—With 30 mangled bodies in the morgues at Amherst, 27 miles west of Cleveland, and 40 seriously injured, some of them dying, rescue parties are working to recover more dead and injured from the wreckage of three of the New York Central line's fastest and finest passenger trains which were demolished in a double wreck at Amherst at 4 o'clock this morning.

Crashed In Fog.

The trains in the wreck were two sections of train No. 86, eastbound, Chicago to Buffalo, and the Twentieth Century Limited, westbound. The second section of the Chicago Flyer crashed into the first section in a heavy fog when the first section stopped to take water. The Twentieth Century Limited a moment later plowed through the wreckage of No. 86, which had been hurled to the west-bound track.

Dead In Rear Coaches.

Most of the dead were in the rear coaches of the first section of the Flyer, although some dead were found near the coaches of the second section, which had buckled over onto the Twentieth Century's right of way and was splintered by the westbound train, which was of steel construction.

No Dead On Limited.

There are no dead among the passengers on the Twentieth Century Limited, though a number were hurt in this train, two of the coaches being overturned.

Running At High Speed.

The section section of the Flyer was running at high speed when it struck the first section and most of the killed were passengers asleep in the rear day coach of the first train. Most of the dead are said to have been foreigners. Some were decapitated, while arms and legs were scattered about the scene. Rev. Gustav Walyi, pastor in the Hungarian church, was among those killed.

Towerman At Fault.

A slip on the part of a dozing towerman was to blame for the wreck, according to General Superintendent Ingalls of the New York Central lines. The towerman's wife had been ill and he had been without sleep, watching at her bedside or on duty, practically since Sunday night.

Found More Bodies

At noon twenty-five bodies had been taken from the wreckage and at least five more were known to be in the debris.

GIRLS! HAVE A MASS OF BEAUTIFUL HAIR SOFT, GLOSSY, WAVY

25-cent bottle destroys dandruff and doubles beauty of your hair.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes, but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.

"Tuesday evening the pleasantly situated home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Amos was filled with friends and neighbors to joyfully celebrate their golden wedding anniversary, March 21st.

"All arrangements for the happy event were made by intimate friends with whom the plan for a celebration originated. About 110 invitations had been issued and of this number about 80 responded, some being kept away on account of illness.

"The decorations were daffodils, a color scheme in gold being carried out in a pleasing manner. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served in the dining room to as many as a time as the room would accom-

EXAMINE a fine lace collar that has been washed with Ivory Soap. Notice how clear it is, how much it feels like a new piece, how fresh and unworn it looks in every thread.

It is tests such as this that show the all-round quality of Ivory Soap—its mildness, purity and freedom from uncombined alkali.

To Wash Real Lace Collars and other Fine Laces

Baste the lace to a piece of clean white muslin so that each point and picot is held firmly in place. Make a good lather of Ivory Soap and warm water and let the lace soak for thirty minutes. Then alternately rub between hands and dip into the water until clean. Do not rub. If necessary, use a second clean sud of Ivory Soap. Then rinse in clear water, next in blue water and lastly in a thin starch. Tack on a board stretching the muslin evenly. When nearly dry, remove from the board and press thoroughly through the muslin. Do not put iron on the lace. When dry, cut the basting threads and you will find the lace like new.

NEW POWER HOUSES HERE.

The news, announced in the Telegraph some days ago, that Dixon is to be the site for two new power houses built by the Illinois Northern Utilities company, is exceedingly gratifying. The big steam plant, which it is hoped by the officials of the company will be in operation by the last of the year 1917, will be of especial benefit to this city because it will develop power for this entire section of the state and will be one of the important features of the system that furnishes power and light to northern Illinois. The new power house, which will be built on the site of the present one at the Dixon dam, will also be a big improvement in the power and lighting service here. This last mentioned building will be built this year and will be in operation by next spring. The company has realized for some time that the Dixon power house must be replaced and is very anxious to have the change made. Situations such as the present high water also emphasize the need of the auxiliary steam plant which will be built here.

A VERY GOOD PIECE OF LEGISLATION.

The City Commission of Dixon has passed an ordinance providing for the collection and disposal of garbage all over the city. This is one of the best and most progressive moves that has been made by any city administration for many years and the Mayor and Commissioners surely deserve the praise they are receiving for the action. The garbage proposition was a touchy one in Dixon and it was one of the weak points in the management of the city. We will have nothing to be ashamed of on that score from now on and a great deal of comfort, sanitation and other benefit will result from the new ordinance. The Telegraph congratulates the city officials on their most commendable move and thanks them for it. This newspaper has been campaigning for this garbage ordinance for several years and is highly gratified to have its campaign come to a successful ending.

Well, the garbage ordinance is passed. Business of making a noise like a crowing rooster.

Colonel Frank O. Lowden, will make the best governor Illinois has had in many and many a year. That's why we all want him.

‘Union’ and ‘Balance’ Make Stable Tires

United States Tires, in more than name only, carry out the principle of ‘union’ and ‘balance’ which makes a great stable nation out of the forty-eight individual States of the Union.

United States Tires have that complete ‘union’ between rubber and fabric which absolutely prevents tread separation and disintegration under the tread.

They have that complete ‘balance’ which gives equal wear in both the tread and the carcass—neither is weaker nor stronger than the other.

Every part of each tire helps every other part to last longer—and that is the ‘union’ and ‘balance’ which give the whole tire longer life—which give the low-mileage cost for which United States Tires are famous.

There are five United States ‘Balanced’ Tires—a tire to meet every motoring need of price and use. Ask your dealer to show you.

"During the refreshment hours the Misses Mildred Scott and Nell Greene played two charming piano duets. "Les Chassures a Cheval," and the "First Regiment March." These young ladies have played for some time past at society affairs and are popular entertainers. They later favored the company with other selections. A rare musical treat for all were the solos sung by Mrs. Maude Ames Goodsell of Dixon, Ill., who sang, "Silver Threads Among the Gold." In response to a hearty encore she sang "Just For Today," one of her own compositions. She also sang two or three selections much to the delight of all.

In behalf of the company Rev. W. F. Ireland made an impromptu address appropriate to the occasion in which he extolled the good qualities of the bride in heart and mind, happily alluding to her rare gift of art and calling attention to her numerous paintings that adorn the walls of the home. Rev. F. W. Bailes in a few well chosen remarks on behalf of the children and other relatives, presented Mr. and Mrs. Ames with several attractive packages. Mrs. Ames responded to both addresses, a few happy selections of words that left no doubt in the minds of those present of the pleasure to her the gifts had given.

"Both Mr. and Mrs. Ames came of good old Vermont stock. They were married at Pittsford, Vt., and came to Clinton ten or twelve years later and have lived here ever since. A TALE of RED ROSES

By
GEORGE RANDOLPH CHESTER

Copyright, 1914, by the Bobbe-Merrill Co.

Sledge presents Molly with a magnificent diamond at the theater. Marley sells his stock. The political leader learns that Molly and Glider are to be married in the afternoon.

CHAPTER XV.

A Large Surprise For Each of the Girls. SLEDGE began his deliberate siege upon Molly with the same care and vigor that he would have exercised in conducting a most important political campaign.

On that first evening at the theater he made Molly's wishes, expressed or unexpressed, both a study and a law. A draft blew on her. She had a scarf around her shoulders before she was through with her first slight shiver, and immediately thereafter Sledge snatched his fingers for an usher and ordered the fire escape doors closed. She looked over the program of entracte music and sighed for a missing favorite.

"Write it down," directed Sledge, handing her a fountain pen and a check blank.

Laughing, she wrote it, thinking that he would no doubt send her the sheet music next day.

"Why, it's a diamond!" she gasped.

"Take this to Joe, and tell him to have it played," he ordered. "Anything else you'd like, Miss Molly?"

"I'm afraid to mention a wish for fear I'd get it," she laughed in more or less embarrassment. But Fern, who was having the time of her life, giggled and, telling him to recall the boy, added a favorite of her own to the musical program.

"You can have a good time most any place," Sledge complimented her, with a growing fondness for Molly's friend. "You're a nice kid. I ought to have invited your gentleman friend along."

"I don't see who it would be," laughed Fern. "Molly knows so many nice chaps, but most of them are such boys."

"Excuse me a minute, girls," begged Sledge and unlooked himself from the background.

"Where now has he gone?" wondered Molly, half amused and half apprehensive.

"He's probably noticed that some girls have candy," surmised Fern, who had come to believe him infallible. "He'll bring back a ton of it."

"I hope he isn't going to order the spotlights turned this way," snickered Molly. "He'd do it, I think. He's capable of anything."

"As long as it's nice," admitted Fern. "I'll bet you never had a man treat you with more respect."

"That's true enough. He's rather a surprise to me in that. He's a fine friend to have, Fern."

Just as the overture struck up Sledge returned to the box, followed by a large handed man of about thirty-five, whose face and neck were red from much cheerful exposure to the weather. He had a merry blue eye and pompadour hair, and he wore diamond shirt studs and cuff buttons.

"Tommy Reeler, girls," introduced Sledge. "Miss Fern Burbank, Tommy, Miss Molly Marley."

Mr. Reeler in great heartiness and in friendliness all unafraid shook hands with both the girls and sat down by Fern.

"I'm in luck," he confided to the crowd. "I was feeling lonesome enough to take a drink when Ben dug me up and slipped me the news that he had a girl for me. How do you like our town, Miss Fern?"

"I love it," returned Fern, not daring to look at Molly, whose brimming eyes she knew to be fixed upon her.

Under the crescendo of the music the conversation became paired off, and Sledge, with complacent self-approbation, watched the couple in front of him.

"Tommy's a right guy," he confided to Molly. "Big contractor, paying and city buildings. Wife died last winter."

"That was too bad," responded Molly sympathetically.

"She was due," declared Sledge. "I'd a' killed her."

"Was she so dreadful?" inquired Molly, forcing her share of the conversation.

"A souse," granted Sledge. "Tommy don't touch it, but she got a different kind of a Heinz on every night."

"Drank?" guessed Molly, trying to remember for Fern's benefit.

"For the family," Sledge corroborated, "and all this time Tommy a decent guy. He deserves a good woman, but he don't get to meet 'em. He'd be a great pal for your little friend if she can nail him."

"I never heard Fern express a preference for widowers," she suggested.

"He's the same as not," Sledge assured her. "There's no kids. Tommy's a grand boy."

The music struck a pianissimo passage.

"Me for a blond," Tommy Reeler unintentionally explained to the audience, and before she could stop it the clear silvery giggle of Fern blended with the piccolo obligato.

Reeler looked around at Sledge with a broad grin and nodded his head emphatically in the direction of Fern.

"Having a nice party?" asked Molly softly, bending forward. But Fern was speechless.

The curtain rose, and the play began, and Sledge, bending knotted brows upon the stage, sat decently aloof. If anybody liked this sort of thing far be it from him to interfere with their pleasure. Between the acts, however, he came right back on the job. He arranged for Tommy and himself to take the girls out to see the new waterworks plant on the following day and to witness as balcony patrons on the following night a barn dance of the West End club. He planned a country club dinner for the day after, and then reaching nonchalantly into his waistcoat pocket he dropped into Molly's lap a glittering bauble, which looked like a glass hickory nut.

"Take that down to Duvay's and have it fitted to your finger," he directed.

She picked it up incredulously. It couldn't be real!

"Why, it's a diamond!" she gasped as it lay flashing and gleaming in her hand, and she saw the perfect cutting and wonderful fire of it. The realization startled her so that she almost dropped it.

"It had better be or somebody goes to jail," he informed her. "That rock set me back the price of a house and lot."

"But, Mr. Sledge, I can't accept this," she earnestly assured him.

"Why not?" he demanded, studying her heavily. "You're to be my wife."

She was panic stricken more by his look than his words.

"It's too large for a ring, for one thing," she evaded.

"Why?" he again rumbled.

She decided to leave out the question of good taste.

"You couldn't put a glove over it," she explained.

He looked at it reproachfully.

"Huh!" he commented. "It's a peach, though, ain't it?"

Here was a proposition on which she could readily agree.

"It's a beauty—a marvel!" she enthusiastically told him, ashamed, in some degree, that she so much admired the live thing as it lay in her palm.

She handed it over to him, and as his palm touched hers she felt the tingle of him for the first time. It was as if she had inadvertently touched an electric battery, and she jerked back her hand.

Between them they dropped the diamond, and it rolled under Fern's chair. Tommy Reeler picked it up.

"Swell pebble, Ben," he approved and poured it into Fern's hand, where it lay glittering and glittering and glittering and would not be still.

"Oh, you darling!" Fern murmured to it. "Where did this drop from?"

"Present for Molly," explained Sledge modestly. "Too big for a ring. Can't pull a glove over it. I'm gonna have it set in a necklace."

Frank Marley. Thanksgiving day approached, and things began to focus themselves in the Marley home. The representative of the up state syndicate came to town on schedule. He spent three days in going over the books of the company and examining into Marley's loans. Also, he looked up the matter of the franchises. The company had been given originally a twenty year city charter, which had been twice renewed for ten year periods, its present renewal having three years to run.

"It looks like the regular thing," he said to Marley. "I'm satisfied to give you thirty-six straight through for your stock, take up your loans and allow you the difference in value, but, before I do business, I'll have to see Sledge about this franchise."

"It was part of our understanding that you were to stay away from him," insisted Marley. "If your presence and your errand here are known, Sledge will do something destructive. He has it in for me and will wipe me right off the map."

"He might have it in for me, and I have to see what he can do."

"I'll make it $34 a share, and you see him afterward," offered Marley.

"Now, I'm bound to see him," declared Mr. Goldman, who was a wiry little man, of great energy and decisiveness. "Don't you worry. He won't connect me with you. I've been in this game too long not to be able to cover my tracks."

Goldman's interview with Sledge was brief, concise and satisfactory, and he began by stating exactly who he was and whom he represented.

"We're looking for street car bargains," he explained, "and we've been advised that stock in the Ring City street railway is well worth picking up at its present price. Do you think so?"

"Uh-huh!" granted Sledge. "None for sale, though."

"It does seem to be scarce," admitted Goldman. "Still, we'll take what we can get if it looks good. I understand there's some talk of consolidation."

"Uh-huh!" granted Sledge. "That would probably bring the stock up to par," judged Goldman.

"Can't tell," commented Sledge. "Is there any trouble about renewal of franchises?" inquired Goldman, pondering deeply upon whether Sledge was remarkably frank or remarkably adept in seeming so.

"Guess not," said Sledge. "I got a date, and he went to keep it, wearing his new Prince Albert and his silk hat, his gray gloves and his red rosebud with such complacency as almost to induce Phil to give up his job."

Marley went home intoxicated with elation that night.

"Molly, girl, we've won!" he announced. "Go ahead with your wedding tomorrow, and be as open about it as you like. Tomorrow I lift the mortgage on this house and sell it to Mudstone, who has offered to buy it as soon as I can give it to him unencumbered. I have already sold my stock and Bert's, including the amusement park; have delivered it, and here is the check."

"I told you we would win!" exulted Molly and ran with the news to Fern.

"I'm sorry," confessed that young lady. "The fun's all over."

"It was fun, wasn't it?" admitted Molly, startled to find that she almost regretted the ending of it. "You still have Tommy, though."

"No," denied Fern. "I'll have to put Tommy in my pretty little blue car and send them back together. Poor Sledge!"

"Here's where he gets the first blow," sighed Molly. "You have to go up and phone him that I'm ill and can't see him tonight nor tomorrow."

"Coward!" hissed Fern, in mock tragedy and went in to telephone. She came back slowly. "Poor fellow!" she said. "Honestly, it's a shame, Molly."

Molly herself was rather listless. She was standing in front of a huge vase containing Sledge's latest consignment of red roses. She broke off one of the most perfect specimens and placed it at her belt.

"Poor fellow!" she agreed; then her eyes snapped. "I'm going to make him send me his dog."

"I wouldn't dare," declared Fern. "I'd feel miserable every time he barked. I wonder what Sledge will do to night."

STERLING MEN WILL SPEAK

Dry Meeting at Opera House Tomorrow Evening Is Free.

As speakers in the dry campaign, six prominent men of Sterling and Rock Falls—Peter Frantz of the Frantz Manufacturing company; Theodore Trouth, city commissioner; Evelyn L. Reed, president of the Reed Manufacturing company, Rock Falls; Lefroy Galt, of the real estate firm, and Attorney Robert Besse—will appear on the opera house platform at the Thursday evening meeting. These men are substantial business men and it will be interesting to hear their opinions on the local option question and what they consider the effect on Sterling's trial year of no saloons.

USE "CASCARETS" FOR LIVER AND BOWELS WHEN CONSTIPATED

When Bilious, headachy, sick, for sour stomach, bad breath, bad colds.

Get a 10-cent box.

Take a Cascaret tonight to cleanse your Liver, Stomach and Bowels, and you will surely feel great by morning. You men and women who have head ache, coated tongue, a bad cold, are bilious, nervous, upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have backache and feel all worn out. Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil?

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the bowels.

Remember, a Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning. A 10-cent box from your druggist means healthy bowel action; a clear head and cheerfulness for months. Don't forget the children.

BRITISH MACHINISTS STRIKE

Action Is Taken to Force Repeal of Conscription Act.

London, Mar. 29.—Grave strikes among the machinists at Clyde are holding up the manufacture of big guns. Christopher Addison, undersecretary for munitions, informed the house of commons. The strikes were inaugurated for the purpose of forcing the government to repeal the conscription act and other other measures. Mr. Addison said. Six of the agitators have been removed from the factories, and the government is considering punishing them and taking sharp measures to meet the situation.

RECEIVES $20 PER MONTH

To Support an Invalid Wife and Upon Which To Live.

This is the condition of our respected citizen Michael Duffy, who now asks your votes to make him Tax Collector.

Mr. Duffy has lived here a great many years and has been a good citizen, doing his best to make an honest living, paying all his earnings to support his wife and himself. However, misfortune has overtaken him and he is appealing to you for your help.

Mrs. Duffy is sadly afflicted with cancer on her face, one eye is entirely gone and they are without funds to get such relief as medical aid might bring.

When the power sweeper was put at work on our streets Mr. Duffy's work was not needed, but being unable to do hard work at his age the city commissioners kindly permitted him to remain doing what he could at the small salary of $20 per month, during the winter season. Many of the business men who know Mr. Duffy's honest service have donated to his work in small amounts to keep him going during this time and he now feels all that is left is an earnest appeal to the voters something for his afflicted wife in her declining years. If the voters fully understood the conditions of Mr. Duffy's case there would not be the slightest doubt about his election. 74t6

Her Health Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Indianapolis, Indiana. — "My health was so poor and my constitution so run down that I could not work. I was thin, pale and weak, weighed but 109 pounds and was in bed most of the time. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and five months later I weighed 133 pounds. I do all the housework and washing for eleven and I can truthfully say Lydia E. ADDITIONAL SOCIETY to the production of literature—those quaintly humorous writings, simple in style and full of pure sentiment which are a delight to the reader. Among his works, the Life of Columbus, the Life of Washington, and the Sketch Book, are notable examples. Because of the early death of Matilda Hoffman, Irving never married. Mrs. Moss read numerous humorous extracts from Irving's works, adding to the charm of a very delightful paper. Mrs. Burnham followed with the recital of a poem.

The literature of the United States is divided into three periods, the Knickerbocker, the New England, and the National, the latter period when the writing became distinctive and not imitative of that of other countries as it had been during the first two periods, not beginning until after the Civil War, about the year 1864. New York, the seat of many of the principal publishing houses, became the Mecca of the literary inclined, and with Mark Twain, B. F. Harte, Will Carleton, Horace Greeley, Bayard Taylor, William Dean Howells, Henry James, Paul Leicester Ford, Hopkinson Smith, Julia Ward Howe, William Winters, drawn to that city. The shorter works of these authors were in demand by all the better magazines, Harper's Scribners, etc., and their books found ready publication. Mrs. Rosbrook was assisted in the dining room in the dispensing of refreshments by Mrs. E. N. Howell and Mrs. E. E. Shaw.

Miss Rilla Webster closed the program with an appropriate reading, "Kaffee und Kuchen," were served by a committee of ladies from the churches.
